

Privacy Policy for Octodo

Effective Date: June 14th, 2025

Your privacy is important to us. This Privacy Policy explains how Octodo (“the App”) handles your information.

No Personal Data Collected

Octodo does not collect, store, or share any personal data.

We do not use tracking technologies, analytics tools, or third-party services. All data remains strictly on your device and under your control.

On-Device Storage

All tasks, settings, and preferences are stored locally on your device using Apple’s built-in secure storage mechanisms (such as UserDefaults). This information is not transmitted to any external servers.

Notifications

If you choose to enable notifications, the app will schedule reminders using your device’s local notification system. These are handled entirely by iOS and are not transmitted to any other service.

Backups

If you use iCloud Backup or perform device backups using iTunes or Finder, your Octodo data may be included in those backups. This data is encrypted and protected through your Apple account settings.

Children's Privacy

Octodo is suitable for all age groups and does not knowingly collect any information from children. As no personal data is collected, the app is compliant with privacy standards for users of all ages.

Policy Updates

This Privacy Policy may be updated occasionally to reflect new features or changes in legal requirements. Any changes will be made available via the App Store listing or within the app.
